DOMESTIC SIDE OF EX-GOVERNOR TYLER

The Ex-Chief Executive Gives His Attention to Fixing Up the Home and Dispensing Generous Hospitality.

IS HAPPY AS A PRIVATE CITIZEN AGAIN

This past week, the first of the family perience with stoves and chimneys, and incidentally he has made a study of flues and draughts. The home of the of ex-Governor Tyler, at their home on the heights overlooking the little town of East Radford, and commanding in view miles of the picturesque New River, has proven to the great-hearted ex-Chief Magistrate of the State that private life has its victories no less renowned than the fulfillment of a public trust.

His shoulders free from the mantle of his late high office, and his hands finding not the papers of State importance to unfold, he has turned his attention, willingly for the time, to the smallest household cares, and has been one of the family in fixing up the house.

The duties which have befallen the ex-Governor (in his shirt sleeves) during these last few days, have been such little domestic attentions to things in general domestic attentions to things in general as to involve him in the pleasant task of oiling the pump adjusting the washers in the rested suction pipe, fixing the latch on the front gate, nailing on a paling here and there, and whittling a peg for the big barn-yard gate, to say nothing of the keys he has fitted, the pictures he has hung, and the practical knowledge he has acquired in that high-priced art of plumbing. As a carpet-stretcher he has been a great success so much so that this time the house has been covered with half the Brussels it took the last time, when the boys put it down. The boys explain this by calling attention to vernor's advantage in weight. The ex-Governor has had some ex-

Tyler's has always been much as the Mansion was here during the last ad-ministration—an "open nouse," where a welcome awaited all—and its hospitality was unbounded. So it is now, and whin genuine pleasure the people of the home town and surrounding country, have driven, ridden and walked to the great brick house on the hill, to pay their respects, and welcome the ex-Governor and his estimable wife and family to their his estimable wife and family to their native heath.

Many have found the ex-Governor engaged, much as he has been pictured above, but in all the confusion of getting settled in their old home his greeting has been as cordial and as unpretentious as his welcomes of friend and stranger were at the Executive Mansion.

Mrs. Tyler and her cha, ming daughters Misses Belle. Sue and Lily, have taken their places in the social life of the com-munity, and during the few days at home again have attended numerous dinners, luncheons and reception, given in hon-or of their return. The ex-Governor, or of their return. The ex-Governor though for the time retired and turning as attention to his farming interest and other property in that section, is a man in the prime of life, too, ripe in experi-ence and knowledge of public matters of vital importance to the Commonwealth, not to be called upon again by the peo-ple of Virginia for public service. But should he not desire to again serve the public he will as a private citizen, be an ornament to the State.

city under ground, through a subterrane-an passage across Tenth Street from the City Hall to the feed pole on the opposite side of the street, was the beginning of the underground era in the development of electricity as a motive, lighting and transmitting power, in Richmond.

Up to that time there was no move-ment toward an underground system. The city was covered with wires from end to end, with a congestion in the central and business sections. Telephone, tele-graph, electric light and trolley wires hovered ever he cay like a cloud, and in districts on gloomy days it was some districts on growing and are that people in some of the large factories and wholesale houses were forced to turn on the lights in order to properly transact their business.

This condition of affairs was such that the Fire Department existed in fear and trembling that at any moment a fire might break out in some section covered with wires, and spread ruin and devasta-

Then this department made a forward movement, and an ordinance was frame and passed by Council, providing for the placing of all wires underground. The complications that arose netween the city and the Bell Telephone company caused the ordinance to become practically a dead letter, and the law was never encorced.

The construction of the duties by the The construction of the duties by the Construction Company was another long step toward the placing of wires under ground, but the pressure overhead was not relieved. No wires were coming down. The new company did not relieve the situ tion.

Councilmen began to look closer into the serious condition of affairs, and was determined to be firm with all matters along this line in future.

When the city and the Bell Company shook hands over the little trouble they had been engaged in, and the latter asked for a franchise, it contained the underground proposition, and thus the begin-

It will be only a matter of a short while when the former will be taken off the important streets and from the oft the important streets and not business sections. Telegraph wires usually follow railroad lines, and within a comparatively short while the wires will be taken from Main and Broad Streets and placed on poles along the Seaboard Air Line tracks to the North.

Three is now before the City Council an ordinance from the Richmond Telephone Company, asking the right to place its wires under ground, with the proviso, however, that ten years be allowed within which to do it. This petition has not been acted upon. It is on the table in the Street Committee, and may be taken up at any time,

The petitioners have said that they do not require the full ten years, but that immediately upon the passage of the ordinance, work on the underground system would begin.

The watern started by the city is thus growing, slowly, but surely, and it is believed that within ten years there will be no wires over head in the city.

BIG EXPOSITION GROWING.

Charleston's Show is Rapidly Galaing in

Owing to the general prevalence of a belief that the Charleston Exposition is a failure and that crowo's are pitifully small, the following extract from a letter written by Captain T. C. This letter was written on January 9th to a firm in this city, one of those which will have an exhibit at

M., when the electric display is on, the whole thing electric display is on, the whole thing is a beautiful sight. The crowd is very large on this special Liberty Bell day. Yesterday it was very small, but is averaging better every day, and I think it is generally conceded that there will be a good attendance. The exhibits are nothing like all up yet, but work is going on rapidly and spaces filling up."

Mr. Gorm n's Wonderful Power.

Ir emember during my service in the United States Senate when we had quite a sharp division in our ranks. One very great man introduced a resolution which some of us thought was unwise. He made a half-hour speech, full of eloquence and force, in favor of this resolution. Just before he sat down I caught his eye and shook my head. The great man turned at once to the president. 'Mr. President' he said "that was one side President." he said, "that was one side of the question. There is another side." He then spoke with equal eloquence and force against the resolution for half an force against the resolution for half an hour. He said it was too serious a matter to take snap judgment on, and ended by moving to adjourn. Afterwards he came over to me and asked, "What the devii is it all about, anyway?" Mr. Nims has a message that will interest, inspire and help men. REAT ACTIVITY IN SPRING CAMPAIGN Opposition to Many of the Councilmanic Candidates.

SEVERAL OF THE MEMBERS TO RETIRE

Main Fight to Be in Jefferson Ward, Where Messrs. Turpin and King Will Have Opposition. The New Candidates.

None of the candidates or prospective candidates for municipal honors, who expect to go into the spring campaign, are anxious to precipitate the canvass. There is a general hesitancy among the seasoned campaigners. They do not want to get out among the boys too early, for they know what it means to spend money and loss sieeo.

to get out among the boys too early, for they know what it means to spend money and lose sleep.

It is evident, however, that the campaign will be given an early start, and that it will remain with the City Central Committee to relieve the situation with an early primary. This question is one that will occasion much thought by the City Committee. At present the sentiment in that committee is divided, and, while there are some who wish a primary as early as the first week in March, there are others who would prefer the first of April.

No matter whether the campaign be a long or a short one, it will be a hot one. There is talk of an upheaval all along the line, and from opinions expressed by the voters, in various wards, there will be a number of new faces in the Courcil Chambers after the first of July, and it is not altogether certain these will be a proposed of the proposed of th

July, and it is not altogether certain that all the present office-holders in the City Hall will be looked upon with favor by the people.

There are, already, a number of candidates out in opposition to incumbents. Mayor Taylor is opposed by Captain McCarthy: City Sergeaent Smith has as his opponents. 'Squire Lonnie Graves and Mr. H. Claiborne Epps. and Sheriff Hughes is being opposed by Mr. John E.

In the Council there are numbers candidates. Several of the present mem-bers have announced their intention of not standing for re-election.

President Ebel, of the Common Coun-cil, has stated that he would not be a candidate, as have, also, Messrs, Ten ner, Caskle and Drewry. This will leave three vacancies in Monroe Ward to fill. Messrs, Tanner, Caskle and Drewry are from that ward; Mr. Ebel is from Madison Ward.

Mr. James T. Ferriter, of the Board. from Madison Ward, has been in ill health for some time, and it is quite probable that he will retire from politics at the end of his present term. That will leave two vacancies in that ward, as Mr. Ebel is from the same ward. The members of council from Clay and

In Jefferson Wards will have apposition, and the fight in these two wards will be hot. In Jefferson Ward, Aldermen Turpin and King will have opposition, and there will be a vacancy to be filled in that ward in the lower branch, as Councilman William H. Adams will run for the Board to succeed either Mr Turpin or Mr. King. Mr. John M. King will be out for the Board, and Mr. Thomas Wesley will stand for the lower branch. Mr. King and Mr. Turpin will have the hardest fight of their career on hand. There is a fight on against Mr. Mills, too, for the Common Council. He will be as-sailed by the adherents of Mayor Tayor, because of his prominent position as chairman of the Epps Investigation Com-

In Clay Ward the will be on Messrs. Gibson and Miner. These two gentlemen are representatives of the two factions, and each will be fought by his friends on the other side. This is what friends on the other suce. This is what the politicians term a "reciprocity fight." and may result in either the defeat or election of both. The term of Alderman Seay expires in July. He will comething of a dilemma. With the names of Mr. John B. Minor, Mr. Samuel H. Cottrell and Mr. Charles L. Todd in his mind, besides others, who have been sug gested, he is in a quandary as to procedure, and he may solve the problem get the faction stogether, and give the various sections of the ward equal rep-resentation by nominating a man from the north side of the ward. Mr. Seay represents the south side, Mr.

Whittet the central and it may happen that the name of Mr. Irving L. Bever idge, the druggist, and the sterling citi-zen and business man of Brooke Avenue and Clay Street, may be named for the vacancy, so that the north side may have a representative in the upper branch. The name of Mr. Beveridge has been placed before Mr. Seay and he may look upon him as a happy solution of the po-litical situation in Clay Ward.

fight is expected to develop. Gossip has it that Mr. Curtis and Mr. Grimes will have opposition, and that Mr. Wiltshire will probably have to enter strenuously into politics. The main fight will be in Clay and Jefexist.

With the retirement of Mr. Ebel, the Common Council will look to put a new man at the head of that body. Mr. Cas-kie has said he would retire also. This will necessitate the selection of some one will necessitate the selection of some one-else. Mr. Wallerstein will be mention-ed. His experience in such matters will make him a good presiding officer. Mr. Hobson is, also, being thought of. Should Mr. Turpin fail of re-election.

a new president of the Board of Alder-men would have to be selected. Major Otway S. Allen, it has been said, would Otway S. Alen, it has been said, water preside ably and with dignity. The name of Mr. James R. Gordon has been sug-gested. Either man would do justice to the responsible position. HARRY TUCKER.

Staff and Other Appointmentsa e Expected-Gov. May Speak in Atlanta.

Governor Mentague will in all probability announce his staff appointments this week. He will likely decide who will constitute the Penitentiary Board also before next Saturday, and will probably at the same time announce the appoint-ment of a surgeon for the penitentiary and one for the State Farm.

His Excellency was very busy yester-day receiving callers, indeed, this has been true of him ever since he took the oath of office on January ist. So much of his time has been taken up with re-ceiving visitors that he has been able thus far to pay but little attention to the matter of appointments.

He on yesterday announced the appointment of Mr. J. L. White, of Abingdon, to fill the vacancy on the Board of Visitors to the Virginia Military Institute, vice Judge R. R. Kane, of Scott, ueeased.

Government Montague has been invited by the Virginia Society of Atlanta to de-liver an annual address on the life and character of General R. E. Lee before that body on January 20th.
